Dad's Night At Grove P. T. A.

Dads will be honored at the Lemon Grove School P. T. A. meeting Thursday evening, January 15, at the San Miguel School. A special program of interest to fathers and mothers of pre-teenage children has been planned, with special emphasis to be placed on the Dads' Night theme.

At the December executive board meeting of the Lemon Grove School P. T. A., the following people were appointed to serve on the Founders' Day committee: Mmes. W. L. Birch, Virgil Danielson, Robert Beckham, Margaret Darroch, Edward Kinyon, Roy Milne, and C. E. Correll. Mrs. Ruth Pfister, district cafeteria director, announced that a snack shop would open after Christmas vacation at the intermediate school .Thus lunches will be provided for sixth, seventh, and eighth graders during the next few months.

Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Virgil Danielson of 4003 Charles Street, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Correll. The January meeting will be at the home of Mrs. H. Newell, 3008 Cypress, this week. Co-hostess will be Mrs. H. G. Hoard.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Robert Beckham, president, and Mmes. H. Bryant, C. Planchon, H. Newell, H. B. Hoard, Robert Brown, Charles Edenfield, W. L. Birch, H. Randall, Margaret Darroch, Virginia Cornelius, L. Upton, Ruth Pfister, J. Burgreen, Edward Kinyon, A. Reed, C. Correll, and Messrs. Burton Jones, Ben Schei, Tom Brogan, and Rolland Purves.

Schools To Aid March Of Dimes

The annual March of Dimes campaign will be conducted in the schools of the Lemon Grove District beginning on Monday, January 12. Each pupil will receive a card prepared by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and they will be asked to complete the card with five dimes and return it to class. However, it is not necessary to fill the card completely to join the march; one dime is all that is necessary to participate in the campaign.

These cards are to be filled by the pupils themselves either at school or at home. Local merchants and other residents should not be asked to help boys and girls complete the cards.

When all the cards have been returned to school, the local P. T. A. health chairman will arrange to count the money and forward the check to headquarters of the San Diego Chapter at 3785 Fifth Avenue. The drive ends on January 30.

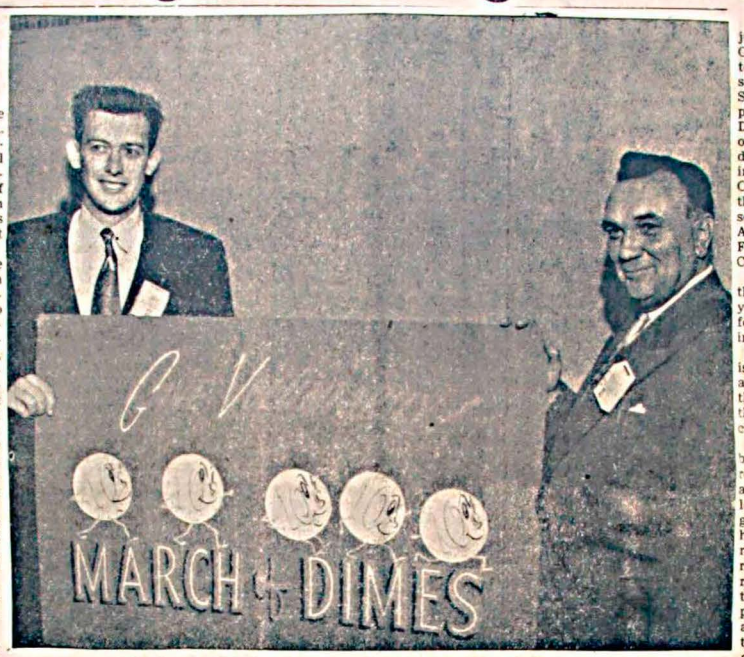
A smart person is one who can see a thing through rather than one who is quick to see through a thing.



Here are the men sparking the Lemon Grove March of Dimes campaign. Channing P. Mason, operator of Mason's Feed and Supply Co., and Tom Warburton, vice principal of Helix High, co-chairman of the project for which they have established $5,000 as goal.

"This year," they point out, "may be the last year of the March as we know it. Scientists are that close to a discovery of a serum against the dread polio disease."

The program is being sponsored in Lemon Grove by the Kiwanis with the Kiwanianes handling the work-a-day details. Other service clubs and organizations are also throwing the weight of their membership behind the drive.

Campfire Girls, Duchesses, Girl Scouts and Min Tidiers are handling balloon donations which so far has accounted for nearly $400.

The project one of the best organized ever unveiled in this community is well on the way to success due to the leadership of the chairmen. Several other elements of the campaign are described elsewhere in the Review.

Nearly $400 was contributed for balloons the first week-end of the Lemon Grove March of Dimes campaign.

The local drive is sponsored by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis with Tom Warburton, Helix High School vice principal and Channing P. Mason, businessman as co-chairman.

The kickoff was Friday when Campfire Girls, and the Duchesses of the Helix High School sold balloons supplied without charge by the San Diego chapter of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. They collected about $175.00.

Mrs. Fletcher Carr was in charge of the Campfire Girls and Miss Mary Alice Rigley was in charge of the Duchesses.

On Saturday more than $200 in donations was racked up by the Girl Scouts in two groups. The first under the leadership of Mrs. Burnie Bray, the second under the direction of Mrs. Irvin Johnson and later the Min Tidiers under the direction of Miss Laura Collins.

Supervising the balloon project were the Lemon Grove Kiwani-Annes who worked at the corners with the youngsters' leaders.

Kiwani-Annes who participated were Carroll Mason, Mary Hussey, Louise Dail, Mary Lou Brumbaugh, Rita Browne, Helen Netzley, Vi Russell, Mary Neinaber, Sybil Sollider and Virginia Apra.

"The first week-end of effort is gratifying," reported co-chairmen Mason and Warburton. "While $400 is but a small percentage of our $5,000.00 objective, it proves that the goal is not beyond our reach after the splendid co-operation given by individuals handling balloons last week."

The Grove Fire Department inflated 3200 balloons for the project during their off hours, using a portable air compressor. Chief "Pappy" Hensley supervised this chore to which the department contributed the equivalent of more than a full day's work.

In the meanwhile, iron lungs, the familiar containers for voluntary contributions were being distributed to all business houses in the greater Lemon Grove area. Through the generosity of businessmen these containers are being strategically positioned in heavy traffic locations in various stores.

Totals from this source will not be known until the campaign is over Mason and Warburton pointed out. The "iron lung" project will last throughout the entire campaign which ends on February 5th, but several other major activities should make a dramatic impact in the drive for the goal.

Next up is the "Block of Dimes" which falls on Saturday the 17th of January. In this project students of Helix will stretch contributed dimes along Broadway in both directions from the intersection to see which group can "make it a block long."

Groups in this project will be the Helix band, cheer leaders and pom pon girls and the Grove Elementary school band and po mpon girls. These groups will attract attention while members of four Hi-Y clubs from Helix and the Helix Key Club solicit dimes from the populace in the center of town area.

The following Saturday a dance will be held at Helix High School at which Al Cassell and his Musical Knights will play. A four act professional type floor show will be held in conjunction with this event, Mason and Warburton said.

Contributions for the tickets to this affair will be solicited among civic minded citizens beginning this week. All funds collected will be turned over to the March of Dimes without deductions. The band and floor show, as well as refreshments which will be available at the dance are all contributed without cost.

The cost of the band is being borne by Musicians Local No. 325 from a musicians' fund collected for worthy national charities. The Grove Kiwanians are absorbing all costs other than the balloons and band. Kiwani-Annes are in charge of the dance, decorations and floor entertainment.

Leaders of this project expressed wishes that those accepting tickets to the dance would use them since the entertainment was of such a high calibre that a full evening's pleasure would be assured.

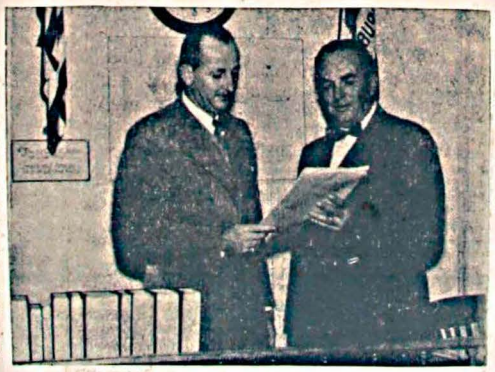
Tickets will be handled by local clubs and organizations and will be available also at various business firms including the office of the Review.

The construction of the new junior high project in the Lemon Grove School District is expected to begin within a month on the site at Lincoln, Kempf, and School Lane. Contractor for the project is C. F. Von Gunden, San Diego contractor, whose low bid of $536,843 was accepted Tuesday evening at a cpecial meeting of the Board of Trustees. Others who submitted bids for the school project were the Nielsen Construction Company, L. C. Anderson, I. C. Curry, Rugger, Fister, and Andersen, and the Cotton Construction Company.

Von Gunden is no stranger to the Lemon Grove District. A few years ago he was the contractor for the construction of the original Monterey Heights School.

Since the junior high project is being built with both state and federal funds, approval of the bid must be obtained from these departments before actual construction will begin here.

The project will include the building of a multi-purpose room, to serve as school cafeteria and auditorium, shower and locker rooms for both boys and girls, a manual arts room, a home arts room, an instumental music room, science room, art room, and ten additional classrooms. Besides these new structures, the bid includes the complete site development for an athletic field. This is to be on the ten acre addition on Kempf and Lincoln. It also includes remodeling of the present classrooms on the site and reconstruction of the kindergarten room into a principal's office. Sam Hamill is the school architect for the entire project.



The new year brought a change in the Homeland Judicial District Justice Court when local attorney Luther Hussey took over the bench from retiring judge Jean Daze Ratelle, also an attorney. Both men will continue their law practice. Ratelle left, is a partner in the firm of Ratelle and Forest, 3180 University Ave. Judge Hussey maintains offices at 7898 Broadway in Lemon Grove.

Date Festival To Be Bigger

INDIO, Jan. 7 — Increased demand by manufacturers, distributors and retail firms for commercial and industrial exhibit space has necessitated expansion in this department at the coming 1953 Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival here on Feb. 18-23, inclusive.

Erection of a big-top tent will add another 10,000 square feet to this popular exhibit section which last year was visited by 97 per cent of the 155,642 in attendance at the National Date Festival, according to Fair Mannager Bob Fullenwider.

Highway Patrol Needs Personnel

Back in Pennsylvania, one Dr. Ward M. Sharp, an official of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, has completed a scientific experiment in the interest of the rabbit population and, as it turns out, in the interest of taxpayers.

Through many years, at considerable expense, it has been the practice to restock hunting areas with rabbits after each shooting season. Dr. Sharp's experiment was simply conducted. He cut off the restocking of bunnies in test areas and waited to see what would happen. Plenty happened. Plenty of rabbits, that is. The stock, the doctor learned, was replenished as fast in areas where the rabbits were left to their own devices as where the wildlife service horned in.

Any Lemon Grove ranch boy could have told him that!

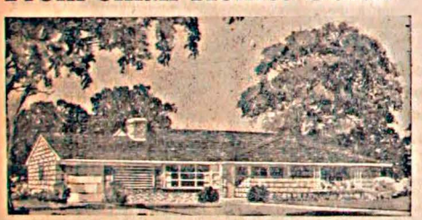
House of Different Ideas Given First Prize Honors From Small Homes Guide



Practical Construction

Here is a design full of "different" ideas by Architect Herman H. York. The house is so practical from both the builder's and the home owner's point of view, that it was almost inevitable for the Small Homes Guide board of judges to award it first prize for excellence of design. Something brand new is the louvered front opening of the breezeway, which ties house and garage together as a unit, yet allows full play to summer breezes. This, combined with attractive treatment at the rear, and the built-in barbecue, (fast becoming a standard item in today's home), makes an outdoor living room of this area.

Another good feature is the double bath arranged back-to-back, with one unit private to the master bedroom. Built-in shower is extra large. Kitchen work area bypasses back-to-front traffic perfectly. Convenience of basement stairway to service entrance is a definite plus. Floor area 1,339 sq. ft. Information on blueprints and cost can be obtained by writing to Small Homes Guide, 82 W. Washington, Chicago 2, Ill.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Rev. Robert H. Harper

How Do You Use Power?

Lesson: I Kings 1: 38-40; 3: 5-9 9: 27-30.

Golden Text: Proverbs 3: 5-6.

AFTER the death of David, the young Solomon, who had been named by David, under the influence of Bathsheba, Benaiah, and Nathan, to succeed himself on the throne, was made king of Israel, with great pomp and ceremony. When he was anointed king, all the people shouted: "Long live king Solomon."

Soon thereafter, when Solomon went to worship at Gibeon, he earnestly sought divine help. God appeared unto him and asked what his request would be. Solomon asked for wisdom, for an understanding heart, that he might govern his people well. Hence arose the statement that Solomon was the wisest man who had ever lived, a statement that was amply verified in some of the decisions that he made. This fame of Solomon went abroad, so that the queen of Sheba "came from the uttermost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon."

That Solomon grew in his spiritual perceptions was shown in his prayer at the dedication of the temple, a prayer in which he recognized the might and omnipresence of God, but he rejoiced that God would condescend to come into the temple, to write his name there, and to hear his people in their needs.

Solomon thus, in his early life as king, was an example of the right use of power. Let us learn to use, by the help of God, every gift he makes to us, for his glory.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. A. B. Flaming, Reedley, Calif.: I remember when we would get two bricks and rub them together until we had enough fine brick dust, and we would scour our knives and forks with it.

From Mrs. Etta Jackson, Mogadore, Ohio: I remember when we girls cut up tin cans in strips, wrapped them in paper and rolled our bangs up for curls on them. They made the curls OK but were hard on our heads when we retired for the night.

From H. Floyd Craig, Mt. Gilead, Ohio: I remember when we thought nothing of going a couple of miles through the late winter mud to prayer meeting. We had to put the collar and hames on the horse to pull through the deep clay roads.

From Jannie A. Minton, Lipscomb, Texas: I remember when my mother canned her fruits in brown stone jars and sealed the tops on with sealing wax. She seldom lost a jar from spoiling.

From Mrs. F. W. Macomber, Washburn, N.D.: I remember when my father planted cane in the spring and then in the fall we children had to help strip it and get it ready to take to the sorghum mill to be made into molasses. The man who made the molasses would give us a small paddle to eat the warm molasses. We made rugs from corn husks, braided them to lay at back door to wipe our shoes.

"EASY DOES IT"

BY . . . HELEN HALE

A METHOD which is generally safe as well as successful for removing oil and grease spots from the basement floor, especially when they're fresh, uses dry Portland cement for covering. Let remain for several hours and the cement will absorb the oil.

Knotty pine, when finished properly, improves with age. A tawny finish is achieved by applying a light oak stain, followed with a thin coat of beige paint while it's still wet. When the wood is dry, finish in the usual way with wax, rubbed well.

Use soap and water to clean the garden hose, as dirt will deteriorate the rubber. If stubborn spots remain, sponge with dry cleaning fluid and wipe dry.

White lead paint is good for treating top and bottom edges of storm doors. If left unprotected by paint, moisture will rot the wood. Make certain the paint is dry before hanging the doors.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Cheese Meringue Potatoes
(Serves 6)

- 4 tablespoons butter or substitute
- 3 cups mashed potatoes
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- Paprika
- ¼ cup hot milk
- ½ cup grated processed cheese

Add butter, egg yolks, salt and pepper to potatoes. Add milk and beat well. Pile into buttered baking dish and cover with meringue made by beating egg whites stiff and folding in cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderately hot (375° F.) oven for about 10 minutes.

Adhesive paste is used for gluing plastic base floor tiles. Have all surplus paste work out after laying and wipe off paste as it's more difficult to remove once it dries. If it has dried, use alcohol or some floor cleaner.

If you have copper accessories, make them shine and gleam with the following treatment: dissolve ordinary table salt in vinegar, letting the fluid take as much salt as possible. Rub copper pieces with this mixture and buff with a dry cloth.

If garden furnishings have rust spots on them, rub with oil and let stand overnight. Wipe off oil, then rub down the spots with sandpaper, emery cloth or steel wool.

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

Day-Tight Compartments

MRS. SAMUEL ROSENTHAL, Newark, N.J., says she can never remember the time when things, however insignificant, didn't bother her. She worried constantly. In fact she declares she was the "coward who dies a thousand deaths."

When she was told that her mental attitude had brought severe hypertension she was sure that this would inevitably bring about heart trouble. So sure was she that on the day she did suffer a heart attack she knew what it was before the results of a cardiograph were known.

CARNEGIE

While in the hospital she was warned that her worrying would prevent recovery, but by that time she was lost in a whirlpool of regrets and a hopeless outlook for the future.

Then her daughter happened to bring from the library a book, recommended by the librarian. She didn't expect to glean anything from "just a book". The days were long in the hospital and when she began to read to fill in the weary hours, words of wisdom in the book seemed to be written just for her. She read that book over again, and now that she is recuperating at home, she still refers to it.

She says it has wrought for her what well meaning advice from various people, what warnings from doctors, and what her own conscience told her, could never do. And the most valuable piece of advice—for her—that the book contained was to live in day-tight-compartments, and the advice she would pass on to the rest of us is to live each day by itself and not allow worry to enter.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

On many Washington calendars, January 20th is ringed with some uncertainty.

The enigma is not so much Eisenhower, but Eisenhower's friends. Some of his appointees are little known, creating a feeling of uncertainty.

C. W. Harder

For example, while the General was in Korea, exposed to danger, a political note was introduced in the government anti-trust suit against DuPont.

Joseph P. Savage, an attorney, appeared in the Chicago Federal Court, asserting he represented the stockholders, told the court that the incoming Attorney General, Herbert Brownell might call off the suit.

Brownell has said he intends to review all cases pending.

The government through the Justice-Department started suit against DuPont in 1949, alleging the $5 billion empire composed of the DuPont Chemical Company with a 23% ownership of General Motors stock, and 18% interest in U. S. Rubber, has conspired to restrain trade.

Career men in the Justice Department headed by W. L. Hotchkiss spent three years preparing the government's case.

Usually, Justice Department career men do not force a case to trial unless they have ample evidence to justify a trial.

But apparent confidence expressed in Federal Court that the new Attorney General will squash the trial causes grave concern over future administration of the anti-trust laws.

Naturally, until all the evidence is in, and a decision reached, no one can say whether or not the DuPont empire is guilty as charged. But opinion prevails that now is the time to decide the issue in open court, without political interference.

Whether or not Brownell stops the trial on taking office on January 20 remains to be seen. But the fact that such a possibility is voiced in a trial court highlights the drive started by the National Federation of Independent Business to remove anti-trust enforcement from politics.

In a recent nationwide poll of independent businessmen, 78% voted for legislation to make appointment of an assistant U. S. Attorney in charge of the anti-trust division permanent, thus removing him from political pressure. In the past ten years, five have been removed from this post.

Here is the issue.

Briefly, it is desired that enforcement of the anti-trust laws be put on the same permanent basis as other Federal laws are enforced by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI.

There will be a great deal of opposition to this plan.

Concerns found meriting a trial under the anti-trust laws usually have ample means and influence. The easiest way to win is to secure dismissal.

The plan of independent businessmen is quite plain.

It's merely a matter of making it impossible to "fix" a traffic ticket on a high level.

Plenty Of Parking Space... San Diego in 1906

From the Historical Collection of Union Title Insurance & Trust Company

A newcomer to San Diego would have difficulty in recognizing this 1910 scene as being 5th Avenue, looking north towards C Street. The photograph, from the historical collection of Union Title Insurance and Trust Company, is a fortunate one, however; within a few months the corner had changed considerably.

Already under construction on the southeast corner was the Boston Store, with the excavation being carefully supervised by interested pedestrians. Within a year, George Marston would have completed the present Marston Company store on the northeast corner.

The American National Bank, seen on the right, had been founded in 1903, with Louis J. Wilde, onetime San Diego mayor as president. Later, in 1917, it was to merge with the First National Bank.

Perhaps the greatest change future years would bring would be in the traffic pattern. Cars parked in any direction indicate that the only laws governing parking were the laws of convenience.

TEER OF THE YEAR

CHICAGO — A roan Shorthorn won the world's championship in the International Live Stock Exposition here. This popular grand champion was Ohio's Leader 2nd, shown by Ohio State University, Columbus. He was smooth, mellow and every inch a champion, according to Judge A. D. Weber, of Manhattan, Kans. He slaughtered at a dressing percentage of more than 68 per cent, showing a higher ratio of slaughter weight to live weight than any other International grand champion on record. He sold for $4.55 per pound to bring his total earnings with prizes to $6,350.

CIVIL DEFENSE ROLE . . . A helicopter is demonstrating one of the ways in which it can be used in civil defense rescue work. The 'copter is lowering a rescue worker to the upper floor of a "wrecked" building in Olney, Ind., to aid people supposedly trapped there. The building is one in a "rescue street" used to train civil defense workers from all over the country.

Sermon on Sacrament Stresses Spirituality

Inspiring proofs of the healing power of spiritual thinking are included in the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Sacrament" in all Christian Science churches.

This verse from 1 Corinthians (10:16) is the Golden Text: "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?"

Luke's Gospel (22:50-51) relates that when Jesus was betrayed in the Garden of Gethsemane, one of his followers "smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear. And Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far. And he touched his ear, and healed him."

CAPITOL - COUNTY News Letter

BY ASSEMBLYMAN RALPH R. CLOYED

Assemblyman Ralph R. Cloyed

Ever since I have been a member of the State Legislature, I have attempted to keep the people of San Diego County informed on measures before the Legislature through a weekly news letter sent to the County newspapers. My attempts have been to write about legislation that particularly affects this County and to keep it on a factual basis and free from partisan politics but I suppose it is almost impossible to keep from indicating my leanings occasionally.

This year the Assembly will start the year with 54 Republicans and 26 Democrats. Three members will be women, two of whom are Democrats and one, Kathryn T. Niehouse of San Diego, is a Republican. Mrs. Niehouse, due to illness, apparently will not be present at the opening of the Session, reducing the Republican voting strength. The Republican strength will be further reduced by the appointment, by Governor Warren, of Assemblyman Bob Kirkwood of Saratoga as State Controller, replacing Tommy Kuchel whom the Governor has appointed U. S. Senator in Nixon's spot.

The law requires that Kirkwood first be sworn in as Assemblyman and resign later to take his new job. He probably will not resign until after the election of the new Speaker of the Assembly, which will be the first order of business at the new session. There has been quite a battle going on in the interim between sessions over the election of the Speaker to replace Sam Collins of Anaheim who ran for State Senator. The battle for the Speakership developed between two candidates, Assemblyman Jim Silliman of Salinas and Assemblyman Joe Holliabaugh of Huntington Park. The fight started back on June 4th after an all day battle on the floor of the Assembly over proposed rule changes, successfully led by Silliman, which news reporters likened to the Congressional revolt of 1910 — the kind that they write history about. The permanent reorganization plan did not appear to be certain until after the November 4th election, when eighteen new members were elected. However, fourteen of the newly elected members became Silliman supporters, and with forty-three members signed with Silliman it appears that a floor fight has been avoided.

The Speaker of the Assembly is a powerful political officer, often ranked second to the Governor in influence. His power to control and direct legislation exceeds that of any other elective officer of the legislature. He presides over the Assembly and appoints the chairmen and members of all committee to which bills are referred, and he is placed third in order of succession to the governorship.

Committee appointments have become the object of concern of special interest groups and certain lobbyists. Lobbies have frequently been effective in helping to elect the Speaker and, through the Speaker, exert influence to secure the election of committee appointments of their choosing, for strategic reasons. Supporters of Silliman who have served with him and voted on thousands of bills, like his independence and freedom from lobby influence.

If this session is like the 1951 session, there will be close to 6,000 bills introduced, which cover subjects from Abalones to Zoning. Of major importance will be the question of taxes to finance schools. The passage of Proposition No. 2, which boosted the ADA from $120.00 to $180.00, will cost $70,000,000.00 the first year. The question of whether or not this can be met with existing revenues and the question of providing television channels for the benefit of schools are factors that will throw the spotlight on the Legislature.

The three billion dollar deficiency in the highway needs will call for increased money for highways through an increase in the gasoline tax, and, possibly, a bond issue of a billion dollars. An increase in the gasoline tax has always been opposed by the oil companies.

There will also be bills that are designed to reduce highway deaths, which have reached an all-time high.

Of special interest to San Diego County will be the attempt to establish a narcotics squad with offices in San Diego County, in order to better cope with the increasing narcotics problem.

Congregational Church Pot Luck Monday Eve.

The Golden Circle will have its potluck dinner and installation of officers next Monday night in Friendship Hall at 6:30 p. m. The night has been changed to accomodate the Annual Business meeting of the First Congregational Church which will be Tuesday, the evening following at 6:30 starting with a potluck dinner. This is the most important church meeting of the year.

POTATOES are a versatile food, but few people have heard of them served stewed! Melt 4 tablespoons of butter into a skillet, add 6 potatoes, peeled and sliced, then 1½ cups milk and salt and pepper to taste. Cook, covered, slowly, until potatoes are tender.

Sliced orange garnish makes good eating with lamb. Sprinkle them with brown sugar, dot with butter and dust lightly with curry powder and broil.

When next you make cream puffs or eclairs, add some finely sieved banana to the vanilla cream filling. This gives you a novel flavor treat.

Sweeten your next batch of applesauce with maple sugar or syrup and serve with cornmeal griddle cakes. You'll like strips of bacon to go along with these.

Chocolate and orange are unusual but welcome team mates. For your next chocolate cake, chocolate-frosted, grate some orange rind on top and listen to the call for second helpings.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Cranberry Ribbon Loaf

(Serves 8)

1 1-pound can whole cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ pint heavy cream, whipped
¼ cup confectioners' sugar
⅔ cup chopped nuts
½ cup crushed, drained pineapple

Combine cranberry sauce and lemon juice. Pour into refrigerator tray. Blend together remaining ingredients and place this over cranberry sauce. Freeze until firm. Serve in slices as salad or dessert.

In place of parsley as a garnish, use the parsley in the food prepared and see how much zest it adds to simple dishes. Chop it fine for hamburgers, salad dressings or biscuits.

Shrimp a la king can be prepared the same way as you do the famous chicken dish of the same name. Serve on a bed of well-seasoned peas, or, if desired, on a bed of rice mixed with peas.

Lime frosting on a white cake does wonders in color and taste appeal. Use a package of cream cheese (3 ounces), 2½ cups confectioners' sugar and 1 tablespoon lime juice. If you like, add 2 teaspoons grated lime rind and mix until smooth.

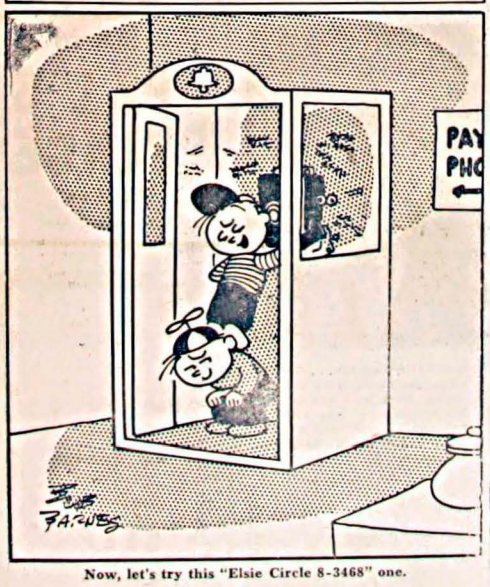
LAFF OF THE WEEK



Now, let's try this "Elsie Circle 8-3468" one.

PHONE TAPPED . . . Officials tapped phone of Nancy Hawkins, one of girls accused with Sam Chapman, New York, of doing some "love for sale" business. Recording was played at trial.

CINCINNATI — The Disabled American Veterans in cooperation with the Department of Defense, will construct the Grave of the Unknown Sailor at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, as a fitting tribute to the heroic Navy dead, comparable to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington. At its recent national convention in Boston the DAV voted to underwrite the estimated $75,000 cost among its membership. The memorial, designed by Paul R. Williams, who helped design the United Nations building in Paris, will have four circular pylons, 35 feet high, with a curved ramp running out into the water and circling a buoy on which will be a dedicatory plaque. Three rooms in the land structure will be used as chapels. DAV officials hope to break ground for the memorial in the near future.

How To Have a Glamorous Bathroom

Curtains made of towels highlight this cheery bathroom. Its Provincial theme accented by Cannon's "Chanticleer" ensemble.

It's easy to redecorate your bathroom each week. You can do this without spending a cent on painting or papering or even on structural changes.

All you do, suggests the Cannon Homemaking Institute, is to change your color scheme each week. With varied towel colors, plus occasional changes of small decorative accessories, your effects can be constantly new and interesting. For instance, your bathroom may one week have a gay Provincial theme, with "Chanticleer" bordered towels. You can use the same style towels for window curtains, tied back with strings of wooden beads to match the borders.

On another occasion, you can create a Victorian theme by using richly patterned floral towels in brilliant colors to contrast with your walls. In this plan, you may change window draperies to a clean-cut candy-stripe chintz. Add some Victorian bric-a-brac, and you have a bathroom in an entirely different mood.

Or, you may choose for your bathroom's decor a strictly modern theme. For this, a smart idea would be solid color towels of sculptured or textured designs in colors to match or contrast sharply with the wall colors. Bright cakes of soap in a modern wire bowl would be an attractive accessory.

Do you see how easy it is to change your bathroom to match your mood? All it takes is a variety of towels in lively colors, a few charming accessories — plus lots and lots of imagination!

Adventists Complete Successful Investment Project

The Seventh-day Adventist foreign missions fund is $630.00 richer as the result of a special Investment Day contributed by the members last month.

The project began early in 1952 when Sabbath school members, old and young, pledged they would invest in some enterprise with the proceeds dedicated to God.

Mrs. Walker, an elderly lady, made pot holders and edged hankerchiefs for the primary children who sold them for investment. Some of the children sold scouring pads and Christmas cards. They made $30 on their investment.

The kindergarten helped their mothers make beds, do dishes, keep their toys picked up, and planted flower seeds. They put their offerings in a happy looking duck bank.

The money raised through this "partnership with God" project carried out by Adventist church members each year is in addition to the regular weekly offerings for missions. This year set a new record for this special fund. It was announced Saturday morning at the program conducted by Mrs. Mable Miller, investment secretary.

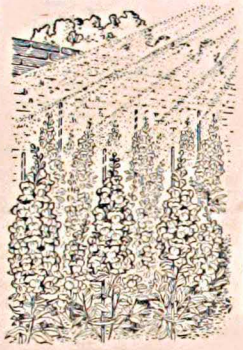
Snapdragon Solve Many Garden Problems



SNAPDRAGON

Snapdragons are the most versatile of plants that grow well in Lemon Grove gardens and can be used to brighten bare spots or to fill hard-to-plant areas. A small mass planting of Snapdragons will screen porch foundations or hydrants; that narrow strip of soil between driveway and house wall; and sunny walls where reflected heat makes it difficult to grow any plants.

Set out Snapdragon plants from flats now. They soon will start to spread a green curtain over those bare spots, and will bloom in March. Space the plants 8" apart, and pinch them back when they are 6" tall to encourage bushier growth.

Where you want height, plant the "maximum" type of Snapdragon, which grows three to four feet tall and should be tied to stakes. For two to two-and-a-half foot growth, plant the "tetraploid" type of Snaps. Many good varieties of both types are offered.

In a good sized flower bed, your Snapdragons' bright colors provide a lively show against a background of Pacific Hybrid Delphinium, with its blue flower spikes. In front of the Snapdragon, Stock will go well; Imperial Stock if you have planted Maximum Snaps, Ten-Week Stock if you planted Tetras. Or plant some Bachelor's Button, with its gray-green hairy leaves, to provide added foliage contrast.

For a final edging, or directly in front of the Snaps where space is limited, a row of Forget-Me-Not (Myosotis), or Violas with their delicate blue or yellow flowers, will provide just the right finishing touch.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lemon Grove Review
Dear Mr. Goodwin:

Shame on you for sending to Missouri for corn meal. Some of the finest corn meal in the country can be obtained right here in Lemon Grove. This package to which this note is attached is the proof.

My husband raised the corn as a hobby. When I was president of the Woman's Club and too busy too put up all of his garden produce I had some of the corn ground up.

I think a retraction of the inference that you had to send out of state for corn meal would be in order . . . after you try the local product.

Signed,
Zelda Vernier

Dear Mrs. Vernier:

Either I owe the community an apology or I should resort to the corrective measure of the more rugged days and indulge in wife beating. I handed the Missouri corn meal over to the distaff chief of operations of the Goodwin menage with succinct instructions to turn out a batch of good corn bread for her master .But a sadder melange you never saw. The cornbread wouldn't run second to a three weeks old Tijuana tortilla. For a gal that never had anything but black-eyed peas and corn pone until she was sixteen, having spent most of her barefoot years in Tennessee, the corn bread was a sorry mess. The buttermilk had clabbered or something, she complained.

As soon as she recovers from the beating we'll have some corn bread from the local product.

Your meal reached us (1. without a recipe attached, and (2. without a coupon on the bag good for a practically silver plated set of ice tea forks. Since these items are important ingredients in the packaging and distribution of Missouri meal, it is questionable whether or not a fair comparison can result.

We appreciate having our attention called to the fact that good corn meal can be obtained locally. After we pry the rest of the Missouri corn bread loose from the skillet, in will go a batch of Lemon Grove corn meal.

Sincerely,
Max Goodwin

Dear Mr. Goodwin:

Please accept the hearty thanks of the officers and Board of Directors of the Brookside Improvement Organization for your help in judging the recent Christmas decoration contest.

Your help contributed much to the contest, and your attitude of cooperation in this type of community project is certainly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,
Frank L. Foster,
President.

Nan Merriman To Appear At Russ Tues.

A year which promises to be filled with outstanding musical attractions for local music lovers, gets off to a brilliant start Tuesday, when the famed Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra appears in Russ Auditorium, San Diego.

Two exceptionally gifted young Americans lend special interest to the program. They are Nan Merriman, celebrated mezzo-soprano, who will appear as guest soloist and John Barnett, associate conductor, who will direct the program.

This will mark the orchestra's second of four concerts scheduled for local presentation this season. All concerts are sponsored by the San Diego Woman's Philharmonic Committee.

Barnett will conduct a brilliantly enjoyable program starting with Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro Overture," Schubert's Symphony No. 5 in B Flat Major and the beautiful symphonic poem, "The Fountains of Rome" by Respighi.

The talented and gifted Miss Merriman will be heard in the dramatic suite from Manuel De Fallas folk ballet, "L'Amor Brujo" and two opera arias, "O Mio Fernando" and "Adieu Foret" from Tschaikowsky's "Joan d'Arc."

Local Woman Wins Radio Prizes

Mrs. Cecelia Rosekrans, 2623 Corona Street, Lemon Grove received one group of Christmas presents which she hardly expected over the holidays: an assortment of merchandise prizes from KBIG, the Catalina radio station, and in particular from the station's morning disc jockey Stu Wilson. The "loot" was her reward for writing Wilson a long list of correct answers to the commercial questions he propounds on his broadcast ARE YA LISTENIN'? each weekday at 10:00 a. m.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Beautiful Floors Need Regular Care, Not Hard Scrubbing

KEEPING your flooring in good condition can be a big job or an easy one! Much depends on the proper care regularly administered rather than constant, back-breaking scrubbing.

Many homemakers do more work than is necessary, surveys reveal, in keeping their floors in tip-top condition. The reason? They just don't know what care each type of flooring requires.

As a result of this all kinds of floors get a constant scrubbing, and a hard one, at that, just because a homemaker is zealous in her efforts for cleanliness. Correct methods, on the other hand, would eliminate much of the homemaker's work, and at the same time keep in better condition the type of flooring which she has.

Anyone who has kept house for any length of time knows that it's much easier to keep things clean than to get them clean. This means that a small amount of attention given at regular intervals can eliminate much of the really heavy work that comes from thorough and extensive cleanings.

Flooring of any kind is an extensive investment in money, as anyone knows who has had to cover the floor of even a single room. Thus, it's far better to give floors the care recommended a little at a time than something which will ruin the floor and cause expense in re-covering.

Much of the damage comes from scrubbing with harsh soaps and brushes. Much of this can be eliminated if the floor is dusted daily with mop or vacuum cleaner. Under no circumstances should any floors be scrubbed unless this is recommended by the manufacturer.

In some cases cleaning solutions are preferable to the soap-and-water treatment. Wax is often used for protective coating.

Buffing Maintains Sheen On Rubber Floors

If you have rubber flooring in your home, ordinary cleaning will serve for most occasions. Simply brush the loose dirt with a broom, vacuum or a non-oily dry mop.

When the rubber floor becomes really dirty, and this, of course, depends on the traffic in your particular home, give it a quick once-over with a clean mop which you have simply dampened in cold water.

Once or twice a year you can do a really thorough cleaning job on rubber floors. In this case use a cleaning solution which has been especially prepared for them. Then rinse the floor with a mop which has been wrung out in clear, cold water.

When the floor is dry, buff to remove any invisible film that may have been left from the cleaning solution or water. Apply a very thin coat of a water-emulsion flooring wax. Buff it, then apply a second coat of wax and buff again.

Rubber floors treated in this way will look as lovely as when they were first installed. Some spots which get a great deal of traffic may need special service in-between these yearly or semi-yearly cleanings. In this case, clean and re-wax the floor areas rather than the entire floor.

. . . polish with grain of wood.

Well Waxed Floors Require Little Care

Floors which have a good wax carefully applied to them will need very little care except the two or three times a year when the old wax has to be removed and a new coat applied.

Good quality wax, whether it's of the paste variety or the liquid type, forms a very hard coating on hard wood floors which seal the pores and tiny cracks in the wood. Thus it makes dirt easy to remove by simply swishing an electric cleaner over it, using a nozzle attachment, an untreated dry mop or a clean, soft bristled brush.

Oiled mops should not be used on waxed floors. They not only weaken the wax but they also leave a film which easily catches the dirt and dust that are brought in.

Soap and water can be used to remove the old wax from the floors, and you may also need some turpentine or denatured alcohol or other special preparation for the job. These preparations not only soften the wax, but remove dirt which has been ground into the wax. For this reason they may be used as "spot" treatment in-between waxing the floor.

Waxes may be applied with applicators for that purpose, or with a cloth which is dipped in the wax. Always be certain the floor is clean before starting.

Some waxes do not need polishing or buffing because they dry to a hard gloss which gives a lovely, lasting finish. Other waxes are improved with buffing. This may be done by hand, but more easily with buffers for the purpose. The latter may be rented if you do not want to go to the expense of purchasing one.

Buff or polish the wax with the grain of the wood rather than across or against it. The more buffing it receives, the higher the sheen, as well as smoother. This means that the surface is less prone to have dirt and dust ground into it.

Wax Over Varnish Gives Protection

Varnish is preferred by many for their floors because it gives a hard and durable finish. The varnished finished will be even more durable if you apply a thin coating of wax to the last coat of varnish when dried.

Floors finished with varnish are cared for much the same as waxed floors, with the main emphasis on daily dusting so that dirt cannot accumulate.

Water spilled on varnished floors should be wiped immediately or it will cause white spots. For daily cleaning use an untreated dry mop or one of the cleaning tools to your vacuum cleaner.

Weekly or semi-monthly care demands that the floor be wiped with a clean cloth or mop dipped in warm, soapy water, but whichever is used should be wrung very dry. Wipe immediately with a dry cloth and polish lightly with an oiled mop or cloth. Avoid leaving an oil residue on floor.

To prevent varnished floors from becoming brittle and dry, as well as to clean them more thoroughly, make a solution like this: mix thoroughly 1 quart boiling hot water, 1 tablespoon turpentine and 3 tablespoons lemon oil or boiled linseed oil.

Let this solution remain on floors for about 10 minutes, then wipe dry with a clean cloth or mop.

You'll find this solution excellent also for cleaning varnished woodwork.

Use Water Sparingly On Painted Floors

Old, neglected floors are best covered with a coating of porch or deck paint, if it's used to cover the floor completely. If the floors are in very poor condition, it's wise to use two or three coats to cover them completely.

Several coats of paint will seal the wood fairly well and give a durable finish which is easily cared. If you will apply a thin coat of wax on the floor after painting, the finish will be even more durable.

Remove dust and dirt daily with a vacuum cleaner, soft-bristled brush or a clean, dry mop. If there is more dirt than these means will remove, use a mop wrung out in clear, warm water.

Mild, warm soap suds can be used when special care needs to be given to the floor. Have an extra mop or cloth handy which is clean and dry so this can be used for wiping dry after washing.

Sad COMEDIAN

By Lorin D. Angevine

A PAGE wearing a crimson coat stepped out on the stage and removed from an easel the placard that had announced the previous act. He substituted another. The new one read:

HARRY MARLOWE
Blackface Comedian

The audience applauded in anticipation.

He shuffled slowly from the wings, dragged a kitchen chair behind him. He was short, heavy set, with a doleful expression on his round face. A battered derby rode rakishly on his head. There was a cigar drooping from his mouth.

At the center of the stage he tilted the chair and stood leaning on the back of it, his feet crossed. He didn't say anything. He removed the cigar and stared at it distastefully.

The audience giggled. They knew Marlowe from way back. He got the big laughs largely by doing nothing, except giving the crowd confidential and inaccurate information about the private lives of the other troupers on the bill, and shushing the crowd when it laughed or applauded.

But tonight he finally looked up sadly and rumbled, "Hello folks," in his familiar grave voice.

"Maybe I shouldn't be out here tonight," he went on, his heavy features glistening with grease paint and cork.

The big fellow paused and seemed to forget the audience. He relit his cigar. "You folks paid out your good money, partly to laugh at me. The world needs a lot of laughs." He sighed deeply and audibly. "I'm sorry," he resumed slowly. "I guess I got you here under false pretenses this time. You see, I can't be funny tonight because . . . well . . . she . . ."

He brushed impatiently at his eyes where tears had started, thereby smearing his make-up a little.

". . . she and I were like that," he went on, his voice choking. He crossed two stubby fingers to show how they were.

"She use to work with me in vaudeville. We were a team, and a good one . . . I could show you a lot of rave notices . . ."

Again he paused. For a moment he stared thoughtfully at a corner of the upper gallery, unblinking in the glare of the spotlight.

"Yeah," he said, coming back from wherever his thoughts had been. "Yeah, that was a long time ago, before she . . ." Again his low, rumbling voice broke and faltered. "What I mean, that was when she was well . . . Then she had to quit, and so the act broke up, and I had to go it alone. Well, not alone, either, for she was always waiting up for me, no matter how sick she was. Always wanting to know how the act went over.

"Doctors? Oh, I had the best for her."

Somewhere in the darkened orchestra circle a woman began to sob.

"Well," said the melancholy funny man, staring at his cigar, "this afternoon—just a few hours ago—she died in my arms. So—" he flicked ashes off the cigar "—that's the way it is. I'm sorry. Like I said, I shouldn't have come out here tonight."

"Yes! Yes!" shouted several voices out there beyond the footlights. More women were sobbing now. The big, black-face comedian's luxurious countenance lightened a little.

"Well," said Marlowe, "maybe it's all right then, my being here tonight. Maybe it's where she would have wanted me to be.

He teetered the battered old kitchen chair thoughtfully back and forth.

"Maybe," he said, "some of you remember when Trixie (that was her name) was in the act with me. She was one of the best dog performers in the world . . . Thanks a million. Good night."

Harry Marlowe shuffled slowly off stage, dragging the chair behind him.

New Lift For House Plants

Got some tired house plants which could use a lift? If the dirt in the flower pots has become hard-packed and dry so that no amount of soaking will help, Green Gold, the new soil conditioner, is just the remedy you need. It's the new miracle chemical for conditioning soil (not a fertilizer) that changes the soil structure so that hard-packed masses become smooth, easily-worked, crumbly loam. Plants begin to thrive once again as more air, moisture, and plant food are made available to their roots as soon as the conditioner is applied.

Application is quite simple. The contents of the House Plant package is mixed with one quart of hot water and stirred well. After loosening the top soil around the plant, the mixture is applied with a tablespoon, according to directions.

Tested and proved at one of the nation's leading universities by one of the world's foremost soil experts, this new chemical conditioner is fast becoming the first aid treatment for house and window box plants. Many people are now working it into the soil of newly-potted plants, too, to insure better aeration and moisture conditions.

It comes in powder form in two sizes—29c and the larger $1 economy package, and can be purchased at garden supply stores or wherever you buy your seeds and plants.

If there is one enterprise on earth that the quitter should leave alone, it is advertising. Advertising does not jerk . . . it pulls. It pulls gently at first but the pull is steady. It increases day by day, year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power.—John Wanamaker.
